

1st of April = Fools Day 😊

Every year on April 1, companies big and small flood the internet with elaborate pranks, absurd announcements and bogus blog posts.

BEST APRIL FOOLS JOKES OF ALL TIME

Instant Colour TV

In 1962, all of Swedish television was broadcast in black and white. On April 1st, however, that was about to change. Sweden's television station, STV, announced that viewers could easily watch colour TV by simply placing a nylon stocking, in front of the screen. Pretty much everyone started trying to stretch stockings over their TVs.

Spaghetti Trees

In 1957, a British news program set the bar high (nastavit laťku vysoko) for epic April Fools pranks (žerty). They managed to convince hundreds of people that spaghetti could grow on trees. Oh yeah. Prior to April 1st, they went to Switzerland to film a segment about the great spaghetti harvest (sklizeň). They placed cooked pasta on tree branches and filmed local girls pulling the pasta off the branches and placing it in baskets. After airing (pustit do éteru) the segment, the station got bombarded with phone calls asking how to grow a spaghetti tree. Before the broadcast ended for the night, they confessed to the prank (přiznat se k žertu). Nevertheless, calls continued to roll in demanding information about growing spaghetti. BBC operators grew frustrated and responding to every call with, "Place a sprig (hrst) of spaghetti in a tin of tomato sauce and hope for the best." Genius.

McDONALD'S has teased fans by appearing to announce a new burger made entirely out of pickles and a bun – the McPickles burger.

The fast food giant claimed it had released a new burger in Australia - The McPickle. It posted a short clip on its Instagram account, which looks like a Big Mac but is filled with gherkins instead of beef patties.

The caption read: "Pickle lovers, it's the news you've all been waiting for. We're super stoked to announce the launch of our brand new McPickle Burger.

"It's time to tuck into juicy, flavoursome pickles layered between melted cheese, ketchup sauce and toasted sesame seed buns.

"It's sure to be a treat for all your senses."

Fans were totally fooled by the burger, with many saying how they couldn't wait to taste it.

One wrote: "I want this now", another added: "I cannot wait to get one".

While a third fan joked: "vegans can now rejoice".

Last year, Google teased a project to understand the thoughts of tulips through the company's Assistant voice software. See the video 😊

Today there are no tasks to the texts. Enjoy the beautiful spring days!

In case you are bored, you may try to speak to your flowers 😊